

Vacancy Internship – Policy

GO!PHA – The Global Organization for PHA – is an ambitious non-profit that advocates for sustainable solutions to the plastics and climate change crises. Founded in 2019, GO!PHA promotes and informs about a promising alternative to plastics, called Polyhydroxyalkanoate (PHA). PHAs are renewable and circular natural materials made by microorganisms and form a unique opportunity as a solution to replace conventional plastics. Today GO!PHA has more than 65 members from all over the world that are engaged in three workstreams, various programs and partnerships. Check www.gopha.org for more info!

Activities

You will engage within our global policy team. The tasks of this team are to monitor and analyse policies that relate to circular economy and plastics and to engage with policy makers globally to inform about the potential, benefits and future scenarios of biobased and biodegradable materials, such as PHA.

As an intern you will join the international team in these activities and contribute to our shared mission.

Conditions and benefits

Start date: Immediate

Job type: Internship, 6 months

Intensity: Minimum of 2 days per week

Remuneration: 500 Euro per month (full-time)

Location: Amsterdam, The Netherlands. (partially) Remote work may be discussed.

Effort: Full time. Part-time engagement may be discussed.

Your profile

We are happy to consider a variety of backgrounds and profiles, including:

- A Bachelor's in materials, packaging, policy, or environment fields
- Public affairs savviness is a plus
- A strong drive to contribute to a more sustainable planet
- Fluent English language proficiency

Applications

To apply, please send your CV and cover letter to: gopha@gopha.org to the attention of GO!PHA Management.